Section 1 - Conflicts Minerals Disclosure

Item 1.01. Conflict Minerals Disclosure and Report

Conflict Minerals Disclosure

This Form SD of IES Holdings, Inc. (the “Company”) is filed pursuant to Rule 13p-1 (the “Rule”) promulgated under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, as amended, and Form SD (the “Form”) for the reporting period January 1, 2022 to December 31, 2022. Together, the Rule and the Form require disclosure of information relating to “conflict minerals,” which are defined as columbite-tantalite (coltan), cassiterite, gold, wolframite, and their derivatives, which are limited to tantalum, tin, and tungsten.

The disclosure requirement applies to those public companies that manufacture, or contract to manufacture, products in which any conflict mineral is necessary to such product’s functionality or production.

Accordingly, the Company undertook an analysis of the products it manufactures, or contracts to manufacture, to determine whether any conflict mineral was necessary to any product’s functionality or production. The Company concluded that certain products it contracts to manufacture contain one or more of the conflict minerals. The Company does not purchase any conflict minerals contained within its products or components directly from mines, smelters or refiners; instead, the Company contracts with various suppliers to manufacture or supply these products or components. The Company must therefore rely on its suppliers to provide information regarding the origin of any conflict minerals.

The Company conducted a reasonable country of origin inquiry regarding those conflict minerals, which was designed to determine whether any of those conflict minerals originated in the Democratic Republic of the Congo or an adjoining country (together, the “Covered Countries”) or are from recycled or scrap sources. To this end, the Company identified each supplier of a component or product containing a conflict mineral, explained to each such supplier the requirements of the Rule and its applicability to the Company, and then sought information from each such supplier about the origin of such conflict minerals. In each instance, the supplier identified the origin of such conflict minerals as other than one of the Covered Countries and not from recycled or scrap sources.

Based on its reasonable country of origin inquiry, the Company concluded that it has no reason to believe that any conflict minerals included in the products the Company manufactures or contracts to manufacture may have originated in one of the Covered Countries or are from recycled or scrap sources.
